SEMINAR AGRICULTURE IN TANZANIA

The agricultural sector is of central economic and social importance in Tanzania: it accounts for 28 per cent of GDP and employs around 60 per cent of the Tanzanian population. However, climate change is threatening the farmers' livelihoods and the country's food security.

In this event, we will take a look at the topics of small-scale farming and big agribusiness projects, shed light on the agricultural policy of the last two decades and present Tanzanian solutions.

In an ideas workshop, we will also jointly develop approaches to the question: How can German-Tanzanian cooperations (e.g. projects and partnerships) be organised in a collaborative and sustainable way?
